The gratifying success of the concert at Masonic Temple on Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Methodist Church in Portland, is attributable in a great measure to the energy, taste, and artistic ski'l of Mr. E. made at Louisville.

There may not be much in an expressed platform. Or rather, it may be, as some think, well enough to have no platform. When there is one, there may be great significance in something obviously omitted, but a protest against something appressed in a platform is that the distasteful resolutions in the Legisla-tive series are the 1st, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 9th and 10th. Some engaged in calling the Covington Convention will hesitate to suptient, and to deplore the successes of the Democrats at the North in the elections of last Uctober and November.

Every gentleman who approves these resolutions of the Legislature, prefers the snecess of the conservative or Democratic arry at the North, and, as a general thing, the friends of without qualification or dissent. This is not probable; nor could such a course change their principles. If they were to surrender their principles, why should they desire to overthrow me? They have no personal hostility. If there he, there is certainly no reciprecation. I have always felt kindly toward them and have no feeling of the principles. They have no personal hostility. FOR CONGRESS, ROBERT MALLORY,

THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1863.

The address of the Hon. John W. Menzies which we publish to-day will especially attract the attention of his con- a struggle for existence. Even the Southern stituents. Mr. Menzies is as we under- organs admit, and not only admit hut boast, stand the only Union candidate for Con- that a permanent separation between the gress in the Sixth District. His opponent, if | Southern States and the Northern States would he shall have one, will be a Republican. We be followed at once by the breaking up of need not say that Mr. Menzies is as unflinch- the latter into half n dozen petty Powers ing and thorough-going a patriot as the State | bound together by no common nationality, | I will pay the highest mauker hate contains. He stands now, as he stood in Con- none of them acknowledging the treaty obligress, side by side with Crittenden and Mal- gations of the country or holding themselves lory and Wadsworth and Harding and Grider, all of whom will be again returned to Con- and all of them establishing their own tariffs gress by their constituents, as we do not doubt and keeping themselves in constant readiness that he will be hy his.

Whilst rejoicing at Gen. Grant's success in the capture of Jackson, we cannot the loyal States will bow to such a horrible but feel great anxiety and some apprehension on his account. It appears that the rebel military authorities, fully aware of the immense importance of the position he wrested from them, were, at the last dates, concentrating their whole available force, their army nt Vicksburg, large portions of their forces in Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Alabama, and probably several divisions of their great host in Tennessee, to retake it. The rebel troops, driven out of Jackson, were receiving heavy reinforcements from all directions every day, and Vicksburg was reported as having been evacuated to increase the rebel myriads.

Unfortunately there was no source from which Grant could draw reinforcements. There was nothing for him to do but to strengthen his position as much as possible by hasty fortifications and await the shock. If he has sustained himself, as we trust he has, the sea. the loyal heart of the nation will rejoice with joy unspeakable. When the other day we cited the address of the Democratic members of the Le- | the Union men of our State, and sympathized gislature of New York, in proof of the essen- | in all our struggles against treason at home tial identity of the position of the Northern | and defamation abroad, for the following re-Democracy with that of the Union party of newed assurance of the generous and candid Kentucky, we were not aware of what is in | manner in which it espouses our cause and this relation the most significant feature of | defends our statesmen from calumny: the address: namely, the express adoption of Yet such is the fact. "The Albany Argus of yesterday," says the New York World of Tbursday last, "republishes the Democratic legislative address, and subjoins to it the resthe platform of the Union party of Kentucky. lutions adopted by the Democratic members at the same time with the address, but which, by some oversight, have not before been published. The omission was not, however, very strongly felt, luasmuch as the resolutions are identical with those adopted by the Legislature of Kentucky, and reaffirmed by the Democratic members of the Legislature of Pennsylvauia."

We republish in the Journal of this morning the resolutions as appended to the New York address. It will be seen, that, mutatis mutanashed by the radical party than those patriotic Uuion men of Kentucky. It has nt times been only too manifest that the disminionists of the North, the abolition clique, desired to force Kentucky into allianco with the enemy, in order that she might be included with the Southern States dis, they are indeed all hut a literal copy of the resolutions adopted by our General Assem-

Thus, as it appears, the platform of the Union party of Kentucky has been adopted expressly by the Democratic members of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, which in the confusion of the time had escaped our attention, and also by the Democratic members of the Legislature of New York. This fact puts beyond the reach of cavil a question that before was undisputed and indisputable. There is in Kentucky but one party which is in harmony with the Democracy of the North; and that party is the Uniou party. Nay, not merely is the Union party of Kentucky in harmony with the Democracy of the North, but the Democracy of the North, with a wise and generous regard to the political as well as geocraphical centrality of our position, expressly accepts as its own the platform of the Union tions of such confiding friends, or forgets what party of Kentucky. The Democracy of the is due to her historic renown so brightly re-North rallies under the banner unfurled by the Union party of Kentucky. The significance of this fact defies misconception. And certainly the significance is most obeering to

THE QUESTION OF ENDURANCE.—The following paragraph is from an editorial article in the Raleigh (N. C.) Progress of the 13th inst., a rebel paper of high position and much in-

The great number of the enemy's forces and the multitude of their shipping make it easy for them to carry on simultaneously all these operations, and they do not care for delay, for it is our people who are suffering, not theirs.
The longer this style of warfare lasts the greater will be the mass of plunder carried north, the more of our mills, machine shops, aud railroads they will have destroyed, the more of our national resources they will have ruined and wasted, nud the better chance they will have for an irresistible advance at last.

They are in no hurry. Last year indeed there was urgent haste to get the rebellion crushed in thirty days or in ninety. Now we hear much less of that vehement urgency; and the whole Yaukee nation seems to have laid out its accounts for war as the settled business of life, rather than consent to peace and separa-tion. They are perfectly willing to fight upon the present system for twenty years or forty. They are willing during all that time to go on submitting to such defeats as they bavo sustained at Fredericks-burg and on the Rappahannock, because by these defeats they lose not a foot of ground—they lose not have been not him about the submitted by the hey lose nothing but men, and men are of less value to them than to us. One thousand gallant Southern lives lost to us are ill balanced by the killing of five thousand of their base hirelings. Jackson alone is a doarer loss to us than Hooker and his whole one hundred and fifty thousand would be to them, and they speculate that it may be Lee's turn next, or Longstreet's, and that at any rate they are killing us slowly off, and they are, in the meantime, stealing much and ruining more, and their women and children are safe at ome, many of them dressed better than ever before in the spoils of our bomes, while Con-federate women and children are routed out of house and home and chased like wild beasts, In short, if we can endure this war for the next half century they can, and they will wish us joy of our victories and our glory. We urge nothing, suggest nothing, hint nothing—only state the facts. Such is the policy of the enemy—such is his calculations—such is his interest and intent.

Taking no account of the writer's bitterness, we fully agree with him as to the Federal power of endurance in this war. It is of course extremely desirable to the people and the Government of the United States to put an end to the rebellion as soon as possible, but, be the time long or short, they can and will a man charges for going into the army, the fight on till the work shall be accomplished. If five years are found necessary, they will fight five years; if ten, ten; if twenty, twenty. Time is important, but final success is im-

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL and esse and abundance prevail in the loyal States. The Sonthern ports are blockaded, the Southern railroads are about woru out, Southern labor, white and black, is almost atterly broken up, Sonthern regions are ravaged by the progress of loyal and disloyal armies as by the consumings of fire, Southern money has become a fiction, Southern necessaries of life are held at prices without parallel in the history of either civilization or barbarism, and Southern resources in men to supply the immense army-losses by battle and pestilence and fatigue and want have been wholly exhausted by rigorous and all-embracing conscriptions, while, in the loyal States, commerce is as free as the breeze, lahor receives its rich reward, no hostile force sets its hlighting foot upon the fields, the currency is sound and and there are probably two millions of men who can he added to the armies at the diserewhose relief the charming volume is published. STREET RAILROADS .- At the last session of the Legislature, an act was passed incorporating the Louisville and Southern Park Railway Company, to run out Third street to the House of Refuge, and thence along Park Avenue to the main entrance of the Sonthern Park. This is a very important movement in the right direction. Now is a most auspicious time to put the road in operation, and we have | Claiborne; James Kerr. been not a little surprised that the corporators have not organized and commenced work. Louisville is far behind all other cities in this respect, and it is high time she should comselected to take the initiative in this character of public improvements, and will remunerate stockholders handsomely from the completion of the work. Third street is the very centre of the city, leading by markethouses, postoffice, and within a square of all the fancy retail dry goods stores. The terminus—the southeru part-is being handsomely improved, and cannot fail soon to be a point of general pany can locate this road within the city limquire, the more especially as it affords facil- badly hurned. ities for cheap transportation to the House of Refuge and Southern Park-two enterprises that belong exclusively to the city. MOUNTED INFANTRY.—Captain H. S. Taylor we believe now in commission from our State, has been authorized to recruit for sixteen months' mounted infantry. As the Captain cannot leave his regiment, he is unable to give his personal attention to this duty, but he is to report directly to Gen. Fry, at Camp Dick try. She has taste, talent, and genius, and new organizations are destined to bear an important part in the relief of our State, and the final crushing out of the rebellion in Eastern Tennessec. We hope, therefore, that Captain Taylor's call will meet a noble response.

EGOO: one hundred and sixteen rebel prisoners that were in Philadelphia last Friday, one hundred and twelve took the oath of allegiance to the United States government and were released. The other four were sent to Fort Delaware. One can scarcely wonder, says the Philadelphia Bulletin, that men who have served in the Southern army should, on passing through a Northern city and witnessing the prosperity and ahundance that prevail, be anxious to remain there rather than to go back to the despotism and misery to which they have been subjected. We venture to say that they would nearly all prefer to remain here and support once more the old flag, but for the ties of kindred and the social and business relations that draw them to the South. These are usually imperative in similar cases, and it is a strong proof of the wretchedness in Davis's dominions that one hundred and twelve, out of one hundred and sixteen men, should have been able to forego such ties and stay in the North, where they must remain, the Administration, in opposition to arbitrary | separated from their homes and families, until arrests and to any infringement of the rights | the, war is over. The loyal residents of the district cannot too sensibly feel the importance of the subject, and should at once address themselves to the decate task of making a proper selection. Of those spoken of in that connection, I know of no one better fitted to represent the district than M. A. Downing, Esq., the late Alderman from the Tenth Ward lle was regarded, while in the councils of the city, as one of the most active and officient members of either board; his ideas of progress and improvement were never at faul and his theories were ever found to result to the practical advantage not only of his own section, but to the benefit of the public. No one is more familiar than Mr. Downing with the wishes of the community in which he resides, and none would be more earnestly faithful to a public trust. In politics he reflects the almost unanimous sentiments of the patrioticitizens of the district, as his loyalty is unques tioned and his devotion to the great leadin principles of the Government well known. Your correspondent is not authorized to say that Mr. Downing would consent to the use f his name in connection with the ean but I teel confident that if he should deem he public wish that he should give such eonent, he would not feel at liberty to disregar

RE-ENLISTMENTS .- The New York Journal unteers will win unanimous public approval. It is not too much to say that one soldier who as become toughened to the exposures and privations of camp life, and has overcome, by experience, the aversion which the natural man feels to the whizzing of bullets and the Fereaming of rifle shots, is worth ten raw re-cruits, such as would be obtained in the general haul of a conscription. Of those who would he drafted, at least one half would have no aptitude for fighting, and would be good for nothing without a year or two of patient for nothing without a year or two of patient drilling; and a large proportion would sink under the labors which they would suddenly be called upon to perform, and, after a brief period of uselessness, would wind up their inglorious career in some Government hospital. It is only those who volunteer, who go to the war because they are moved hy natural impulses to do it, that are healthy and serviceable. In postpouing the draft, and offering handsome premiums for the re-enlistment of discharged soldiers, the Government indicates its preference for volunteers over conscripts. The inducements the Government indicates its preference for volunteers over conscripts. The inducements offered by the Government may be summed up as follows: One month's pay will be given in advance, and $25 after the soldier is mustered into service. A bounty of $75 is due to the soldier or his representatives at the close of the war, or after an honorable discharge. Regiments of volunteers returning home will be allowed to take their arms and equipments along, which will be delivered to the Governor of the State, and reissued to the same man of the State, and reissued to the same men when they re-enlist in their former regiments. Officers now going out of service may re-enlist with the same rank in their regiments, the numerical designation of which will be preserved.

These arrangements are highly judicious, because they are adapted to maintain the identity and prestige of organizations. And, over and above all, the State Government gives a bounty of $75 to all persons re-enlisting. At no time since the war broke out have the premiums awarded by the General and State Governments, bear and state Governments. crnments been more tempting. There will soon be a large number of trained soldiers at begin to yearn for the excitement of war. To them, we feel assured, the Government will be a feel assured, the Government will williams & Co...
